Description

An extremely private ancient woodland with gently sloping topography and a pretty stream. Oak, sweet chestnut, alder, ash, hazel and silver birch feature. Bluebells, yellow archangel, red campion and hard ferns can be found, all of which are ancient woodland indicators.

There is a rustic bench in a small private clearing rich with bluebells in the spring. A footbridge has been installed to cross the stream and will allow a new owner to easily access the west side of the wood. The stream is named on maps as 'Sweet Bourne'. It is understood that the 'sweet' refers to the area's natural beauty and tranquillity. There is a good all year-round access to Crossing Wood via a shared stoned track and a place for a new owner to park within the wood itself.

We offer support for new woodland owners, including books, subscriptions, introductions to neighbours, advice on local suppliers and money towards relevant training. You can read more about this here: <https://www.woodlands.co.uk/owning-a-wood/support/>

The purchasers of the woodland will be asked to enter into a covenant to ensure the quiet and peaceful enjoyment of adjoining woodlands and meadows.

Trees

Crossing Wood is a riparian ('relating to or living or located on the bank of a natural watercourse') area of woodland following the streams shallow banks. Tree species include splendid mature oak, sweet chestnut, alder, ash and silver birch. Some hazel coppice stools are scattered through the wood. There is evidence of natural springs on the west side of the wood, which feed into the stream.

Crossing Wood has been designated as Ancient Semi Natural Woodland (PAWS) by Natural England. This is woodland that has been under constant tree cover since at least 1600AD. It is valued as a rich reserve of biodiversity. There is a draft Woodland Management Plan for Wiskett's Wood (of which Crossing Wood is a part) - details of this are available upon request.

Wildlife

Numerous animal trails can be found running across the woodland floor amongst the undergrowth, the stream providing a constant source of water. Brown Long-eared bats have been recorded in Wiskett's Wood, as well as reports of turtle dove, lapwing and skylark. A new owner could install some bird and bat boxes and build a simple hide to observe which species are present. Fallow and Roe deer can be found in the wider woodland. ### Local area and history

Crossing Wood is situated in a tranquil rural setting within the High Weald Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) just north of Bewl Water near Lamberhurst in Kent. Historically, Wiskett's Wood was likely to have been coppiced on rotation to supply wood for charcoal making (to support the Wealden Iron Industry), and later, to provide surrounding farms with hop poles, firewood and fencing materials.

There are many historical sites in the area. The English Heritage site of Bayham Abbey is approx. 4.5 miles away and features ruins dating back to the 13th century. Scotney Castle is just over 1 mile away - this impressive 14th century moated castle is well worth a visit. For those who love water, Bewl Water is less than half a mile down the road from the woods and offers various water sports, as well as cycling and fishing.
