Description

A lovely, mature deciduous woodland, Katterburn Copse is located in a peaceful rural location close to Kiplin Hall, Catterick.

The tall trees are an attractive mixture of native broadleaves such as oak, beech, birch, sycamore, ash, and wych elm. A few of the older trees have ivy growing up them, providing evergreen cover for wildlife.

From the ridestop entrance, which is set on the plateau of a small hill, known locally as 'Fatten Hill', if you strike off south westwards, following the contour, you reach a dell enclosed by a couple of old fallen tree trunks and a striking standing dead ash trunk (an ideal bat roost?). In this space, a rustic bench is situated. This spot might make a good base camp, with the land then dropping gently away to the south and west boundaries that border farmland.

Along the edges of the wood, there are remnants of old hedgerows with views across the countryside and a number of large, ivy-clad oak trees on the slope.

The ground is carpeted with bright green dog's mercury and dotted with native ferns, primroses and viewers with a keen eye, might spot violets.

The purchasers of the woodland will be asked to enter into a covenant to ensure the quiet and peaceful enjoyment of adjoining woodlands and meadows.

Trees

Mature oak, beech, birch, ash, sycamore, wych elm and a few conifers.

Wildlife

A welcoming chorus of forest birdlife, such as chiff-chaffs (in spring and summer), wrens and blackbirds, fills the air, along with the buzz of bees and the cooing of woodpigeons. Buzzards mew overhead and you may even hear a tawny owl call.

Roe deer pass through the wood and you may notice their trails or the scraped beds where they rest up at night.

Features

- Mature trees
- A rural setting
- Tranquility
- A rustic bench
- Lots of wildlife

Access, tracks and footpaths

A good stone track leads directly to the ride-stop entrance of Katterburn Wood, where there's space to park a car. From here, access on foot throughout the wood is quite easy, though sturdy footwear is always recommended.

Rights and covenants

There are no public rights of way within the wood.

The sporting rights are included in the sale.

Our standard covenant will apply.

The purchasers of the woodland will be asked to enter into a covenant to ensure the quiet and peaceful enjoyment of adjoining woodlands and meadows.

Activities

Katterburn Wood is a great location for family forestry perhaps occasional camping and woodcrafts away from the strains of everyday life.

It is well suited for wildlife observation and could also yield a useful firewood supply.

Local area and history

A Heritage Lottery funded archaeology project, undertaken in 2014, explored the area around Kiplin, which was recorded as 'Chipeling' in the Domesday survey of 1086. Through the millennia before the township of Chipeling existed, the area was home to prehistoric hunter-gatherers, early farmers and invading Romans who founded the town of Catterick. Later there were Saxon kings and warriors, and medieval monks farmed the land at Kiplin and milled grain to support nearby Easby Abbey and each era has left fragments of the past behind.

With an interest in archaeology, The Earl and Countess of Tyrconnel of Kiplin Hall, supported the discovery of late Bronze Age, Roman and Saxon objects on the estate, in the first part of the nineteenth century, including three late Bronze Age gold torque-shaped bracelets.

How to find this woodland

You are welcome to visit this wood by yourself, but please ensure that you have a copy of these sales details with you - many of our woodlands do not have mobile phone reception or internet access so we recommend either printing the details or downloading them to your phone/tablet/laptop.

Do remember to also check that it is still available for sale. If you have seen the woodland and wish to be accompanied on a second more detailed visit please contact our local manager.

Directions

Situated about 4 miles off the A1 between Richmond and Northallerton, with the Yorkshire Dales to the west and North York Moors to the east.

Satnav: the postcode DL10 6AN covers several properties and the wood. The point shown by the red dot on the location map/s is the wood entrance gate.

Travelling from the A1(M):

At J52 for Catterick, take the 1st exit onto A6055.

Turn right onto Catterick Rd/A6055/A6136 to Brompton on Swale.

At the traffic lights, turn right onto B6271.

Upon reaching Scorton, turn right onto Bolton Rd/B6271, passing through Bolton on Swale.
